		no	what is the basis of good, user-friendly software for you? For me, it starts with trust and control. Users need to know that their data is secure, that their privacy is protected and that they stay in control of the technology they depend on. That is what digital sovereignty is about. And it is the foundation on which you can build a really useful digital workspace like Nextcloud Hub. So where does Open Source come into this? Open Source is a very important part of that control. You can inspect the software, run it on infrastructure of your choice and you are not completely dependent on one vendor. But it also means that development can be much more open. Customers, partners and community members can contribute directly and help shape where the product goes.		ABC 6606 words, 40600 cha

 - the problem? Our customers worry about 3 things

Why?

We can
Bring content close

Human not see,
Human not do

We can
Bring content close
Connection = creativity
